Triduum – The Sacred Three Days

A huge thank you to all who made our Triduum such a blessed and holy time. It was wonderful to be joined by so many for the most solemn and glorious liturgies of the year. From the 17 altar servers who gave up many hours to be well prepared, to the choir, to the flower arrangers, to the readers, welcomers, fire master, and to Hilari sorting out the jobs and playing the organ, all gave glory to God in such a wonderful way. May God’s grace produce lasting fruit in all who participated.

With every blessing for the joyful season of Eastertide, Fr. John

Question 19 of the Compendium of the Catechism

How is Sacred Scripture to be read?

Sacred Scripture must be read and interpreted with the help of the Holy Spirit and under the guidance of the Magisterium of the Church according to three criteria: 1) it must be read with attention to the content and unity of the whole of Scripture; 2) it must be read within the living Tradition of the Church; 3) it must be read with attention to the analogy of faith, that is, the inner harmony which exists among the truths of the faith themselves.

A reflection from Pope Francis for the Year of Prayer, Second Sunday of Easter:

Prayer is the rudder that guides Jesus' course. The stages of his mission were not dictated by success, nor by consensus, or the seductive phrase "everyone is searching for you". Jesus' path was charted by the least comfortable one, which obeyed the Father's inspiration, which Jesus heard and welcomed in his solitary prayer. From Jesus' example we can derive some characteristics of Christian prayer. First and foremost, it possesses primacy: it is the first desire of the day, something that is practised at dawn, before the world awakens. It restores a soul to what otherwise would be without breath.
